COMMUNION MEDITATION

That day of wrath, that dreadful
day,
Shall heaven and earth in ashes lay,
As David and the Sybil say.

O what shall I, so guilty plead?
And who for me will intercede?
When even Saints shall comfort need?

What horror must invade the mind
When the approaching Judge shall find
And sift the deeds of all mankind!

O King of dreadful majesty!
Grace and mercy You grant free;
O Fount of Kindness, pray save me!

The mighty trumpet's wondrous tone
Shall rend each tomb's sepulchral
stone
And summon all before the Throne.

Recall, dear Jesus, for my sake
You did our suffering nature take
Then do not now my soul forsake!

Now death and nature with surprise
Behold the trembling sinners rise
To meet the Judge's searching eyes.

In weariness You sought for me,
And suffering upon the tree!
Let not in vain such labor be.

Then shall with universal dread
The Book of Consciences be read
To judge the lives of all the dead.

O Judge of justice, hear, I pray,
For pity take my sins away
Before the dreadful reckoning day.

For now before the Judge severe
All hidden things must plain appear;
No crime can pass unpunished
here.

Your gracious face, O Lord, I seek;
Deep shame and grief are on my
cheek;
In sighs and tears my sorrows
speak.

You Who did Mary's guilt unbind,
And mercy for the robber find,
Have filled with hope my anxious mind.

How worthless are my prayers I know,
Yet, Lord forbid that I should go
Into the fires of endless woe.

Before You, humbled, Lord, I lie,
My heart like ashes, crushed and
dry,
Assist me when I die.

Divorced from the accursed band,
O make me with Your sheep to stand,
As child of grace, at Your right
Hand.

Full of tears and full of dread
Is that day that wakes the dead,
Calling all, with solemn blast
To be judged for all their past.

When the doomed can no more flee
From the fires of misery
With the chosen call me.

Lord, have mercy, Jesus blest, Grant them all Your Light and Rest. Amen.
